Patricia McLeod

I am an All Breeds judge from Queensland, Australia, with a long association with Australian Working Breeds. When I was young my family had a number of Australian Cattle Dogs and Kelpies. These dogs were workers as my family were on the land and had cattle. I used to breed and show Old English Sheepdogs in the Herding Group.

At that time, the celebrated Iris Heale, one of the pioneers of the breed in Australia was also exhibiting her ACDs. ACDs were very popular and good numbers were shown. Iris lived near me, and was a colourful character. Legends of her ACDs abound in Queensland. Iris was also responsible for much of the work in getting the Stumpy Tail Cattle Dogs registered. She made sure that all judges knew the differences in the tailed and short tailed varieties. She certainly tutored and mentored all judges who cared to listen to her.

During my judging career I have judged the breeds extensively. Of course I have judged them many times in most states in Australia, in New Zealand, in USA, and in Switzerland where surprisingly ACDs came to the shows from Germany.

My most recent appointment to judge them was in Far North Queensland earlier this year, where they are very popular in rural areas.

My friends in the Australian Cattle Dog Club of Queensland have sent a sash to be awarded at your show.

They have also requested that I return with photographs for them
